Executive summary

IARC@60 international scientific conference : Cancer Research into Action

IARC@60 conference celebrates 60 years of the International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC). The event aims to launch a new era in cancer prevention and control by translating scientific advances into real-world public health actions.

Main Themes

- Discovery and innovation for cancer prevention: Cutting-edge breakthroughs in cancer burden, risk factors, biology, genetics and biomarkers, driving new prevention and early detection strategies.
- Translating Research into public health action: Turning scientific discoveries into public health action by clear translation and practical implementation, ensuring research leads to real progress in cancer prevention.
- Science-policy interface for global change: Effective cancer control depends on strong ties between science and policy. Highlighting real-world success, the conference shows that collaboration leads to lasting public health impact.
